TSCHANEN BROS.

MRS. ANNIE ADAMS.

Mrs. Annie Adams, mother of the famous actress, Miss Maude Adams, has achieved considerable notice recently because of the fact that she was engaged to marry Arthur Brown, the former senator from Utah, who was shot and killed in a hotel at Washington by Mrs. Anna M. Bradley, the latter claiming that Brown was the father of her two children. Mrs. Adams was an actress for some seasons. Of late years she has traveled about the country with her daughter. The Adams family lived in Salt Lake City, where the house in which Maude Adams was born is an object of interest to tourists.

OFFICIALS IN A FIGHT

The Fairbanks Case at Steubenville Principitates a Fight in Court Room.

Steubenville, Jan. 23.—A reference made to the recent indictment of Fred C. Fairbanks, son of the late president, on a charge of perjury in obtaining his marriage license, started a fight in the courtroom yesterday, which was resumed outside a few minutes later.

There was some formality to go through with the papers in the case a court, and prosecuting attorney V. N. Alban, and ex-probate judge F. H. Kerr met with Mayor Scott and others. Prosecuting Attorney Alban, during the proceedings, charged Judge Kerr with unfair dealing in the case and also intimated that Kerr had profited during his term as probate judge by illegal marriage licenses.

Judge Kerr retorted that the statements of the prosecutor were not only untrue, but that he was only making a grandstand play in this Fairbanks case because the defendant is a son of the vice president of the United States.

By this time friends were between the angry ex-judge and the prosecuting attorney. However, the court adjourned and they met outside each tried to get at the other, landing several blows apiece. Mayor Scott and others succeeded in stopping the fight.

FIRE IN A DISTRICT WHICH WAS FLOODED

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 23.—The car barns of the Camden Interstate railway company with 20 cars, burned here this morning with a loss of $150,000. Owing to the flood, the barns were surrounded by water and with great difficulty the fire companies reached the scene.

To Tax All Titles in France.

Paris.—The chamber of deputies has been busy discussing and voting new taxes in connection with the budget. After voting a tax of eight shillings per annum on upright pianos and 16 shillings per annum on grand pianos, as well as a tax of $20 per annum on all kinds of hand organs, the chamber discussed a proposal to tax the transmission of titles of nobility when inherited as well as a tax on all persons now using titles in France. The president of the chamber, speaking for the government, said that the tax would be levied on all the titles of the old monarchical nobility that were still in use and also on the titles conferred by Napoleon I and Napoleon III. Present users of titles would be required to prove their right to make use of such titles.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism

Do you know that rheumatic pains can be relieved? If you doubt this, just try one application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It may not give you relief from pain but will make rest and sleep possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism. For sale by all druggists.

CHINA A NEW NATION

REFORMERS PRAISED IN REPORT TO STATE DEPARTMENT.

Remarkable Changes Taking Place in the Oriental Empire—Plans Provide for Council to Be Mouthpiece of People.

Washington.—A comprehensive review of the remarkable change that is taking place in China as a result of the recent decree reorganizing the government is given in the state department by Edward T. Williams, Chinese secretary to the American legation at Peking.

After quoting the orders for the formation of two commissions to deal with reform projects Mr. Williams says that for over a month these commissions have been holding daily sessions wherein two strong parties have been struggling for leadership, one bent on obtaining a liberal government along modern lines and the other determined that there shall be no departure from the traditions of the fathers. As far as it has gone the report is a compromise, but many valuable features are retained. Especially worthy of note is the abandonment of the scheme for a cabinet and of the proposed consolidation of the council of customs affairs with the new board of finance, probably because of foreign opposition to further interference with the customs administration.

The edict itself hints at the greatest difficulty which has been encountered in the reform movement—"worship of the past"—for nowhere, says Mr. Williams, does the dead hands weigh more heavily upon the living than in China and the first essential to success in any new movement is to show either that it is not an innovation or at least that it is not hostile to the spirit of the fathers.

The principal feature of the edict is the manifest endeavor to approach the ideal of "one man, one office." Just as important is the abolition of the useless multiplication of offices, and except in the case of the board of foreign relations, whose composition cannot be changed without the permission of the powers, there will be only one head for each of the governing boards. Some of the old designations are obsolete and the titles have been modernized. The board of punishments never was fully described in the title. It will be called the board of law, corresponding with the American department of justice. The new department called the "board of posts and communications" is said to be in line with the most advanced western nations' policies.

Although the time is not ripe for the establishment of a parliament, a partial substitute is afforded by the appointment of a council "to assist in government," which is to become the mouthpiece of the people, though they are not permitted to nominate or elect its members. The censorate is retained as a terror to corrupt and incompetent officials. The press is yet in its infancy in China and is said to be characterized by such venality, according to Mr. Williams, as to make it unwise to give it a full measure of liberty.

Hitler's Scenes in Disgrace.

Rome.—The palace at Verona, on the balcony of which Romeo made love to Juliet, was recently turned into a garage for automobiles, and now the Malatesta palace in Rimini, where the meeting between Paolo and Francesca, described by Dante in the "Divina Commedia" is supposed to have taken place, has become a machine factory.

GLASS TRADE GROWS FAST.

Industry Increases Capital 47 Per Cent Since 1900.

Washington.—A report issued by the census bureau on the manufacture of glass and clay products in the United States for 1905 shows that 21 states are represented in the production of glass and gives returns as reported from about 400 establishments, with a total capital of $89,389,151 and manufactured products to the value of $79,607,998. These concerns employed 63,989 employees, who were paid $37,288,148 in wages and consumed materials valued at $26,145,522.

Compared with the totals for this industry at the census of 1900 these figures represent an increase of 12.4 per cent in the number of establishments, 47.2 per cent in capital, 21.1 per cent in wagers, 56.3 in cost of materials and 40.8 per cent in value of products.

Pennsylvania took the lead in the manufacture of glass with 34.8 per cent of the total value of products, Indiana second with 18.5 per cent, Ohio third with 11.3, New Jersey fourth with 8.1 and Illinois fifth with 7.1.

Bottles and jars, manufactured to the value of $33,631,063, were the most important products of the glass industry.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Marion County Fair Association
Wednesday Afternoon.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Marion County Fair Association held Wednesday afternoon at the office of Waudell and Knapp, the board organized for the year by electing:

D. H. Harvey, president; W. J. Wier, vice president; C. B. Jenkins, treasurer and James A. Knapp, secretary.

The election was entirely harmonious and all of the candidates were chosen by acclamation. Mr. H. W. Cookston, the former president, retires from the presidency of the board after three successive years of service.

Bob Finnell, of the Lima News made the Mirror office a pleasant call today. Mr. Finnell, who is an ardent admirer of Barti came over to see the match last night.
